In Grateful Thanks For

Years of Faithful Service

We dedicate this book to

Mrs. Robertson

Joseph Dombek
Principal

Have faith in yourself. You have as a part of your being an internal voice that whispers to you — directing your actions along a course that will bring you a full productive and happy life. It whispers of service to others, of self-respect, of the oneness of all people interdependent with nature. This voice is the echo of parents, teachers, friends, and those who love you and whom you love. Have faith in yourself and your "voice" and your special gift will flame up to brighten the world.

Our four years here at GSA were four of the most important years of our lives. It was here that we gained knowledge vital to the future of each one of us. It was here that we matured from children into young adults. Now we must face the challenges of our society; confident in knowing that GSA has prepared us properly to meet these challenges.

Entering the halls of G. S. A. for the first time, we (45 weak) walked warily with knocking knees until the night of the dreaded Freshmen Reception. But we found our hosts were not ogres, so we stiffened our knees and launched ourselves into a happy and fun-filled first year.

Soccer became a great rival sport at our school this year after just beginning last year. The boys improved greatly since their last season, and were a tough match for all their opponents. Although they won only 3 games they fought to the finish during all of them. Coach Jansen, you did a great job with the guys. Thank you boys, for all the fine games!!!

Cross Country

It was a good year for X-country with a fine team of boys under the supervision of coach John Greene. The boys met every challenge with the strength and perseverance befitting Academy students. Again this year as in years past Danny Ryan came through as our champion. We are grateful to you all.

There aren't really any words we can say that express the great pride everyone here at the Academy feels for Danny Ryan. Throughout X-country season he has shown once again what a champion he is by placing first in the state meet. All we can say is we're sorry to see him go and thank you for all the honor you have brought to GSA throughout your 4 years here!

*the rest of the season was cancelled.

It was our third year at the sport of Golf and the boys proved worthy players at every match. They were really getting hot when because of a death (at another school) the rest of the season had to be canceled. Our thanks to the boys and Mr. Andy for their good work!!!

February 26, 1972

You lost, perhaps, on the scoreboard
But you won, that snowy day;
The victor's win was diminished
By the way you played that day.

I never believed what I told you
When I said we'd not be denied;
I dreamed we'd win for a moment
When the score was almost tied.

The girls that cheered you onward
Were the best upon that floor;
And the school salutes you always
No matter what the score.

You might have won the ball game
Yet you brought us back a plaque;
You were seventh by the standings
But you brought a trophy back.

And now it's ours to greet you
We say it very loud;
We loved those golden moments
You made us very proud.

Varsity Basketball

Well we made finals this year and we put up a terrific fight to make them. With a regular season of 10 wins and 7 losses we went to the tourneys in 7th place. We met and defeated Shead and Washington Academy to put us in the finals against Jonesport-Beals. After a terrific battle we came in 1st runner up to Eastern Maine Champions, losing by only 7 points. All we can do is salute the guys on the fantastic job both during the season and throughout the whole year.

The J. V. basketball team played well against all their opposition even though they lost all their games. But we must admit as a man once said, "It doesn't matter if you win or lose, it's how you play the game that counts." I think the boys deserve a hand for all their effort.

REFLECTIONS

BODY OF THE LAND

Ascending through me
I feel visions and movements
From contours softly spiraling below.
Through my reaching I know the tidal secrets
And the squatters conception of beauty big enough to be of use,
And small glad proclaimers
Too backward to be in notice.

The deadness of groaning limbs
Reaches to encounter all the light
Hanging ropes of lost innocence
Become frayed with knowledge of realism.

Blindness of the populace
Becomes embedded in reams of sweet-smelling dollars.
All forewarning is blotted out.
To relieve simple minds from impending blackness.

Preparing for the summer influx
Little men reach hard
To project the art in simple understanding
Of fluid motion in slow measured pulse.
But a greater dominance for show
Overrides the values of the past
Letting unfamiliar imposters possess
Something different to impress
And to thrill their unhealth
And to reach an imposed goal before time.

Haunting galleys of superficial faces
Return annually to deprive all silence
Surrounded by self made fog
Failing to see through their own facades.

Reflections become reflections
Of bright yesterdays
Foreboding rainy tomorrows
Existing only for the moment.

Loneliness returns coldly
And grimly reminds
Of things that were or seem to have been.

Water and earth change through infinite patterns.
Rapid sounds of winter solitude
Are far louder in the manless surroundings.
Snow raises the level of the earth
And no foot prints break the shelter
Farther than the homesteader's yard.

Small pieces of a frozen beast.
Claws, holding tightly to walls of stone
As walls of light form anterooms against the cold.
Some remaining unfinished-frozen on time.

Nothing is ever returned,
Soon all visions of wealth will fade
The inevitable spectre still exists.

Fresh Pond's water is too far in and intricately hidden in my shadow to change in hue
Except in the deep afternoon's coloration.

Progress destroys to create seemingly natural beauty
Often erupting and seeping
Into seasonal brooks of mud and slush
Painting my countenance through somber tones.

The turbulence of the storm causes the water to protest against its content.
The severe winter water forms into cruel natural destination as a silent warning in a prelude to spring.

Excess will diminish
and far less confidently than its start
Through nature's untunable process.

Dark impurities evoking no love
Require only the worst conditions for malignant growth.
Scars of uncaring knowledge
Ravage virginity
And change simple man
into a pursuer of rape.

The darkening sphere
closes with momentum
too strong to compromise now,
Until light is pushed out
in a final explosion
Welding me together with night.

Ronald Bridges and Andrea Vaughan

SOMEDAY

I wish that someday
I could be
A wanderer of both land and sea.
Then perhaps
I could find
An image which I know is mine.
Someday I'll be walking
Down a road,
My thumb stuck out —
I'm getting cold.
Please give me a ride.
I'm heading South.
In hopes someday to find myself.

Nan Carter

STAR AND COUNTRY

Hmmm, I saw this star and country looking at each other so willingly, couldn't touch them, for they were too close to see their smiles, and far away, so we did not embrace them. They wore bright, shining armor and two black gloves, somewhat molded. They traveled to the foreign lands to find the so called "new god". They sung and performed with choirs that wanted them to sing.

(The Department of Heads arranged a meeting of the minds and found their god and spirit.)

But, the star and country never found their god, and it saddened we priests and kings. We desperately pleaded to them for more excursions but refused, for they were depressed and weary. They then got up and rose to the wonderment of the sun and they never came back.
